

The Honorable Janet Napolitano

Professor of Public Policy
Director of the Center for Security in Politics
The Goldman School of Public Policy
University of California, Berkeley

Rising National Security Threats and Challenges in the Decade Ahead

Thursday October 13, 2022

Hors d'oeuvre reception 6:00 PM, program begins at 7:00 PM

UNM Continuing Education North Building Auditorium
1634 University Boulevard, Albuquerque, NM 87131

*This is a community event, all are welcome.
Please RSVP to gnspi@unm.edu*

Janet Napolitano is a Professor of Public Policy at the Goldman School of Public Policy, and the Founder and Faculty Director of the Center for Security in Politics at UC Berkeley. She served as the twentieth president of the University of California, the nation's largest public research university with ten campuses, five medical centers, three affiliated national laboratories, and a statewide agriculture and natural resources program. Prior to joining the University of California, Professor Napolitano served as Secretary of Homeland Security from 2009 to 2013. She is a former two-term Governor of Arizona, a former Attorney General of Arizona, and a former U.S. Attorney for the District of Arizona. Napolitano is the current President of the Truman Scholarship Foundation and serves as a board member for RAND Corporation, VIR Biotechnologies, Zoom, the International Rescue Committee, and the Council on Foreign Relations. She also serves on the Council of the American Law Institute, and the INTEL Government Affairs Advisory Committee. In 2022, President Biden appointed Napolitano to the President's Intelligence Advisory Board. In 2019, Napolitano published How Safe Are We? Homeland Security Since 9/11. Professor Napolitano earned her B.S. degree, summa cum laude, in Political Science from Santa Clara University, and her J.D. from the University of Virginia. She is based in Berkeley, CA.